we evaluate the performance of u s investors international portfolios over a 25 year period portfolio returns are formed by first estimating monthly bilateral holdings in 44 countries using high quality but infrequent benchmark surveys that enable us to eliminate the geographical bias in reported capital flows data in their foreign equity portfolios u s investors achieved a significantly higher sharpe ratio than global benchmarks especially since 1990 we uncover three potential reasons for this success first they abstained from returns chasing behavior and instead sold past winners second conditional performance tests provide no evidence that the superior unconditional performance owed to private information suggesting that the successful exploitation of publicly available information played a role third well documented preferences for cross listed and well governed foreign firms appear to have served u s investors well we also evaluate the unconditional performance of bond portfolios about which less information is available and find that u s investors achieved higher sharpe ratios than global benchmarks although the difference here is not statistically
